

Seeking high school students, ages fifteen to nineteen who can share two to five hours per month.

- * People who are looking for something challenging and creative to do should apply.
- * Projects will be in the east metro region and they will make a difference with other teens.
- * Hours and commitment result in letters of recommendation for jobs, meeting local business people and community leaders.

You can build real experience for work and have documented community service hours applicable for graduation and college applications.
